

Networking For Future Successfully Completes ISO 9001:2015 Re-Certification Audit

WASHINGTON, December 15, 2020 – Networking For Future, Inc. (NFF) today announced that it has successfully completed its ISO 9001:2015 re-certification audit administered by Standards American Registrations Authority \(SARA\), an accredited International Organization for Standardization (ISO) registrar. SARA recognized the NFF quality management system (QMS) for completing its ISO 9001:2015 re-certification audit in 2020 without any non-conformities. NFF was first recognized with the ISO 9001:2008 certification in 2014.

The ISO 9001:2015 standard is based on several QMS principles including:

- A strong customer focus
- The involvement and motivation of top-level company management
- A process approach and ongoing improvement of the process
- Evidence-based decision making

“The NFF reputation for delivering information technology (IT) business solutions that provide our clients with total satisfaction in challenging environments is unsurpassed.”, stated Hess Fatemi, chief executive officer of NFF. “Earning the ISO 9001:2015 re-certification supports our promise of delivering the best technology products and professional services to our clients.”

“Beyond the hard work, and time required to successfully complete the ISO 9001:2015 re-certification audit, this accomplishment shows just how much each employee at NFF cares about the quality of the IT business solutions we deliver.”, commented Majid Saadat, president of NFF. “We recognize continuous process improvement permits us to consistently deliver value-added products and services that meet and exceed the needs of our clients.”
