

WASHINGTON, February 15, 2023 — Networking For Future, Inc. (NFF), a performance focused IT solutions provider, today announced that IT industry veteran and longtime NFF executive Glen Carter has been named as NFF's Chief Information Officer.

Glen joined NFF in 2012 after serving in technology leadership roles with Allied Telecom and the District of Columbia, Office of the Chief Technology Officer (OCTO). Glen began his career over 30 years ago in the United States Marine Corps and has worked in the information technology field for financial, government, and commercial industries. Glen was most recently NFF's Vice President of Technology Services.

Per Majid Saadat, NFF's Founder and President, "This is a natural next step for Glen and one that will add real value to our clients and NFF. He's worked tirelessly towards establishing and maintaining NFF as the mid-Atlantic's most trusted, reliable, and respected technology services organization. His unwavering commitment to our client's success coupled with his ongoing internal NFF business process improvements have been beyond remarkable. His efforts in leading our solutions architecture, engineering, project, and service delivery teams are key factors in our customer's success and their long-term loyalty to NFF."
